

“Our client didn’t recognize the portrait that I drew, but a couple of days later she was drawn to a box of old family photos. Although she still doesn’t know who it is, there is an uncanny match down to the cleft in her chin”.